

MIDTERM

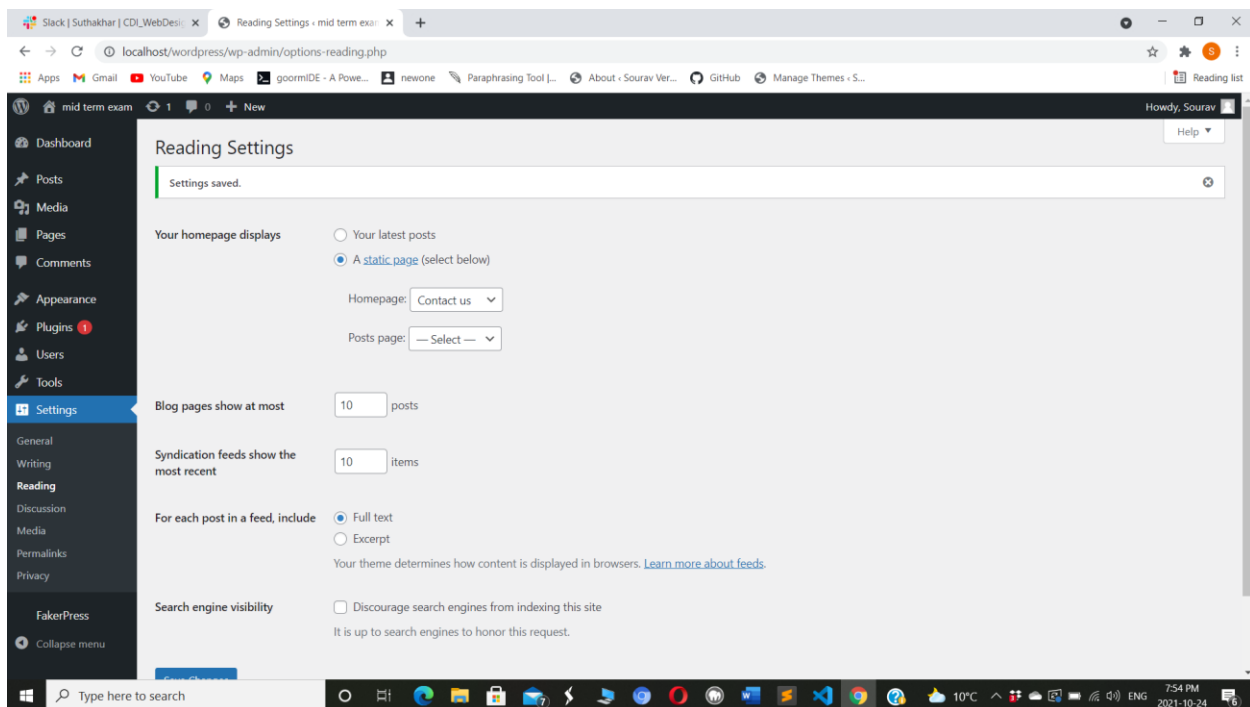

This is what we call a dashboard from here you can do whatever you want to do like creating a new page and editing the page then publish it.

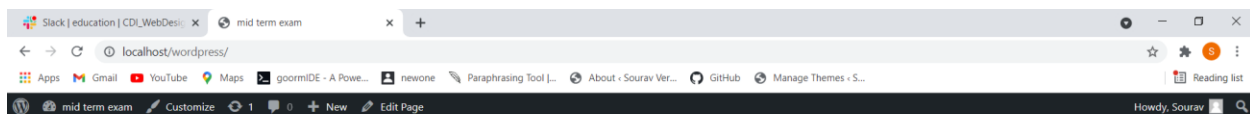

The post= if you want to create a post then you have to go to Fakerpress then to post then there is an example of numbers like 3 and 12 so if you change it into different numbers there will be new posts created

The comments = In comments you have to go to in fakerpress and then in comments and you have to enter the same numbers as in you entered in posts so when you will submit it then new comments will autometacily generated under the posts.

To create a contact page you have to go to pages then to add new then you see a place where you can put the title so when you change the title then you can publish it.

mid term exam, Proudly powered by WordPress.

so to create a theme you have to make a new folder in the theme folder with a name like midterm exam then you have to zip the file and then when we go in wordpress then we can add a theme so we have to choose that zip file so it will appear in the themes.
